London, December 11.—The German wireless states that fifteen persons were killed and thirty-one wounded in Berlin on the 8th. Prolonged deliberations between the Government and the Executive of the Soviet resulted in an agreement on the 8th for unanimous co-operation in the service of the revolution, acknowledging the exclusive right of the Government and renouncing the idea of violently changing the government.

Events Leading Up To Fight
Copenhagen, December 8.—A message from Berlin states that after conferring at length with the Commandant of Berlin and the Chief of Police, the Government, in order to avoid further conflicts, has ordered the military as far as possible not to go on the streets and to use their arms only in self defense.

The supporters of the Spartacus Group have placed a machine-gun on the Pariser Platz and drive motor cars with red flags and machine-guns through the streets. They also distributed pamphlets declaring "the revolution is in the highest peril. Blood has been shed by counter-revolutionary villains, who misused brave soldiers." They call on workmen and soldiers to attend a mass meeting of protest this afternoon at which Rosa Luxemburg and Dr. Liebknecht will speak.

German Bank Liquidator Appeals To Mixed Court To Settle Remuneration

Mr. G. Passeri Makes Application Which Is Opposed By Bureau Of Liquidation; Case Goes Over For Further Hearing

A claim for remuneration as liquidator of the Deutsche-Asiatische Bank has been brought in the Mixed Court by Mr. G. Passeri and is opposed by the Bureau of Liquidation of the Bank.

The claim came on for hearing before Assessor Ros and Magistrate Yui yesterday. Mr. G. H. Wright appearing for the applicant and Mr. G. D. Musso for the Bureau.

Mr. Wright in his address to the court stated that the application was of simple character, being merely that the court should fix the amount of Mr. Passeri's remuneration for the work he had done. Mr. Musso submitted that the case was an entirely new matter to the court and asked that it proceed in a formal manner as it was a matter of considerable importance both from the point of view of the principles and the amount involved. He asked that pleading be filed.

Mr. Wright said that in this case there was obviously no defendant. The bank was in liquidation and the remuneration came out of the assets of the concern. Thus it was the assets and not any particular individual that was liable. It would not be denied that Mr. Passeri had been appointed liquidator and obviously he must be entitled to some remuneration for his work. He submitted that there was no occasion for pleadings after a company had gone into liquidation. Mr. Wright said that application had been made by his client to the bank but no reply had been received. In reply to Mr. Musso he affirmed that the application was made on December 6. After further argument the court decided that the application should proceed.

Wants To Know Mr. Passeri's Claims
Mr. Musso then asked that the application be dismissed, on the ground that it was vague, indefinite and obscure and he was entitled to know with a degree of certainty what he had to defend. He asked if Mr. Passeri claimed a percentage on all branches of the bank, or simply on the Shanghai branch and contended that he was entitled to know on what assets the commission or percentage was claimed.

Mr. Wright replied that the form of application was taken from a form used in English courts. He said that Mr. Passeri had stated the basis of his claim in the letter to the bank—four percent on all accounts collected or brought to credit, including those on which action was at the present time pending. Mr. Wright said he would like to mention that the exact amount involved was within the direct knowledge of Mr. Musso's clients, because early in November statements of account, showing the amounts collected or brought to credit, were prepared and signed by Mr. Passeri and Mr. Sung Hang-chang, the Chinese liquidator, and sent to

Conference Starts At New Year

What Air Terms Mean
London, December 8.—Some light is thrown upon what the surrender of two thousand aeroplanes under the armistice means to the Germans by the following official British figures of air fighting upon the British Western front from January 1 to the date of the signing of the armistice. Enemy machines destroyed in aerial combat by the British numbered 3,660, while enemy machines driven down out of control numbered 1,174. The number of British machines reported missing was 1,315. Thus, without counting the heavy air losses inflicted upon the enemy by the formidable French and American air services, Germany is known to have lost well over 6,000 aeroplanes, destroyed and surrendered during 1918. On the other hand, the resources of the Allies, who suffered far fewer air casualties, are being reinforced by two thousand German machines of modern type and in good condition. This indicates the overwhelming superiority that the Allies now enjoy in the air.

South American Republics Are Pressed in Strong Note To Compose Differences

(American Wireless To Reuter)
Washington, December 12.—(Received at French Wireless Station).—The State Department made public today the following note to Chile and Peru through their respective ministers:

"The President of the United States desires to inform your Excellency that the various incidents leading up to the reverence of consular relations between the republics of Chile and Peru have been viewed by the government of the United States with the gravest apprehension. Any agitation tending to lessen the prospect of permanent peace throughout the world, particularly on the eve of the coming peace conference in Paris in which it is confidently expected steps will be taken to provide an era of lasting peace among all peoples of the world, would be disastrous, and those persons who cause this condition must be charged with grave responsibility before the world for their actions. The President of the United States feels it is his duty to draw the attention of the governments of Chile and Peru to the gravity of the present situation and to point out to these governments the duty they owe to the rest of the world to take immediate steps to restrain their populations and re-establish peaceful relations. That a satisfactory and peaceful solution of the matter in dispute may be arrived at between the two countries there can be no doubt and the Government of the United States stands ready to tender alone, or in conjunction with other countries in this hemisphere, all possible assistance to bring about an equitable solution in this matter."

POINCARÉ IN ALSACE

(Reuter's Agency War Service)
Paris, December 11.—President Poincaré was received with a profoundly impressive, spontaneous outburst of joy in Strasbourg. In a historic speech at the Hotel de Ville the President said: "The jubilation of Alsace has shown that the soul of a people cannot be destroyed as easily as the Library of Louvain or the Cathedral of Rheims." The presidential party at Strasbourg was increased by 500 senators and deputies from Paris.

The ceremonies were essentially of a national character. President Poincaré laid a wreath on the statue of the Alsatian general, Kléber. After a ceremony in the Cathedral, the President reviewed the troops, and then followed an open-air concert in the Place de la République.

The President paid visits to the Protestant church and the synagogue where he delivered speeches. Strasbourg having recovered its liberty, all the German names of streets have been changed. Mr. Sharp, the American Ambassador to France, General Pershing and Field-Marshal Haig received greetings as the representatives of America and England. 5,000 delegates from villages in Alsace and 6,000 representatives of Strasbourg societies, with banners and bands, paraded before the President, displaying an amazing and unvaried variety and richness of costumes and headgear.

After a gala performance at the City Theater the presidential party proceeded to Colmar and Mulhouse. Paris, December 11.—President Poincaré, with his party, arrived in Mulhouse on Tuesday afternoon and was received with immense enthusiasm. ## Financial Situation Of Britain Is Grave

But Churchill Says He Is Confident It Can Be Met

(Reuter's Agency War Service)
London, December 10.—Mr. Winston Churchill, speaking at Dundee, dwelt on the gravity of the financial situation of Great Britain which, however, he was confident we should successfully overcome. About six-sevenths of our debt was due to ourselves. We had sent America 1,400,000,000 in bullion and about 1,000,000,000 in American securities. Most of this sum had been incurred on behalf of our Allies and Russia. We should not only lose the interest on these securities but we had to pay interest on them to the British proprietors from whom the Government had taken them over. A strong financial commission is inquiring in every direction regarding the German assets which are capable of being distrained for the purpose of discharging the cost of the war.

Necessary For Demands Of International Police Force, Secretary Says

(Reuter's Agency War Service)
Washington, December 9.—Mr. Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, in his annual report, recommends continued naval extension in order to meet the demands of international police work; also for tasks of survey, discovery and protection. The report pays a tribute to the British navy's loyal spirit of co-operation and says that in as much as the United States is the richest of the great nations and has suffered less in the war than any of the Allied powers, she ought to make a contribution to the navy for the preservation of the world's peace, commensurate with her growing mercantile marine and leading position in the world of free peoples. The report eulogizes as typical of Great Britain her generous contributions for the common cause in transporting a great proportion of American troops.

Dutch Representative In Russia Gives Terrible Picture Of Conditions

(Reuter's Agency War Service)
London, December 8.—Reuter's representative interviewed at Ouden-dijk the Dutch Minister at Petrograd, who has arrived in London via Germany. He warns workmen of all nations against Bolshevism, which "is the end of civilisation." Translated into practice, the principles of Bolshevism are high wages, no work, take other people's property, no punishment and no taxation. Russian workers are far worse off than ever before, and the state of unemployment is terrible. In Petrograd the situation is one of utter exhaustion. The people do not know how to exist from one day to the next. "I would never have dreamt that such corruption and tyranny was possible under the semblance of freedom. The future of Russia to me seems hopeless. Wherever Bolshevism rules, the nation is beaten to pulp and is utterly helpless."

HOSPITALS IN SIBERIA NEED SUPPLIES BADLY

Relief Train Returns To Vladivostok From Trip Of 4,000 Miles

Vladivostok, Siberia, December 14.—Bringing back a relief train which left Vladivostok on September 14, C. L. Preston of the Siberian Commission's Finance Committee, American Red Cross, arrived last night.

"This is the most recent train to come through from the Trans-Baikal region. The train, now empty, consists of three military cars and one second class car used for living purposes. He took out a large amount of supplies and medicines and distributed them at various points, going in as far as Khabarovsk, some 4,000 miles from Vladivostok.

Bishop Tucker of the Episcopal Church in Japan, who is one of the Red Cross chiefs in Siberia, went out with the train and came back as far as Harbin, turning off there to go to Kover and then on to his home in Japan. He expects, however, to return here in two or three weeks.

Mr. Preston brings word that the hospitals along the line are virtually stripped of medicines and in many cases most classes of supplies are nearly exhausted. He has brought fifteen tubercular patients and fifty untrained men to Douchedu where they were placed in the Russian hospital and will be fully taken care of.

Coming home near Chita this train passed another relief train on its way out to the far west also distributing supplies in large quantities.

The arrival of Mr. Preston and the report on conditions which he will make will probably add to the plans for the fourth relief train, which is soon to start from Vladivostok, destined to go to Omsk. This train is now being made up and was expected to leave on Wednesday night, but it probably will be added to by several more cars jammed with supplies, principally warm clothing to be distributed along the line on the recommendations of Bishop Tucker and Mr. Preston. The train should be ready to move by Friday night at the latest and will be sent through as rapidly as possible.

The dwelling at 401A Chingta Road was entered by five men, one with a revolver, about 5:50 o'clock but were frightened away before they could steal anything. One arrest was made. Shortly after six o'clock eight men, three armed, stole clothes and jewelry from the dwelling house at 433 Chingta Road. Two men were taken into custody.

The Chambers of Commerce at Soochow, Hangchow, Tientsin, Anking and Mukden have all endorsed the policy of the newly established International Tariff Equalization Society at the Cotton Yarn Guild by leading Chinese merchants in Shanghai. More telegrams are expected from other chambers of commerce.

German Bank Case In Mixed Court

Peking. These were the statements on which the claim was based.

Mr. Wright went on to say that the plaintiff claimed under three heads: (1) a commission on percentage on amounts collected; (2) the same commission or percentage on the amounts brought to credit; and (3) the same commission or percentage on the amount claimed on the various petitions filed by him as liquidator. The Mixed Court against a number of German debtors.

Mr. Wright went on to describe Mr. Passeri's qualifications and previous service and said he carried on his duties at the German bank until November 25, when apparently he was superseded by Mr. Lucas. Counsel said he was informed that the assets of the bank when Mr. Passeri took over the liquidation were in the neighborhood of Tis. 24,000,000 and his client would tell the court that he had been instrumental in collecting and bringing to credit over Tis. 3,000,000.

Mr. Norman Thompson, chartered accountant, was called as the first witness. He testified to having gone into the work done by Mr. Passeri, and he considered the work difficult and gave it as his opinion that four percent was a fair amount to charge.

Mr. Passeri also took the witness box and gave evidence, during the course of which Mr. Museo intimated that his contention would be that the applicant was not entitled to any remuneration.

The case was adjourned.

104 Bank Cases On File

A total of 104 cases against German individuals and firms are now on file at the Mixed Court. The first hearings will come up on Tuesday and there will be further hearings on Thursday and Saturday mornings of next week.

The cases to come up Tuesday morning before Assessor Grant Jones and Magistrate Yui will include those against the Club Concordia; the German Consulate; Hornum and Co.; Carlowitz and Co.; agents for Basler Vers and Co.; the Shanghai Nurseries; Arnold, Karberg and Co.; the Columbia G. and B. H.

Summons in the case of the German Club and Consulate was served on the Dutch Consul yesterday afternoon.

On Tuesday afternoon, before Assessor Ros and Magistrate Kwan, the following cases will come up for hearing: G. Hemling, Walter Scharf and Co.; P. Schwarzkoff and Co.; G. Bohl and E. Wasmus.

Industrial Heads Of U.S. Discuss Reconstruction

Conference Of War Service Committees And Others Held At Atlantic City

Washington, November 2.—Plans for assembling at Atlantic City for December 4, 5 and 6, all members of the country's more than 300 industrial war service committees for a great war emergency and reconstruction conference were announced today by the War Service Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The meeting will bring together from 2,000 to 3,000 industrial leaders to discuss problems that have arisen with the war. National councillors of the Chamber, representing the more than 1,100 commercial and industrial organizations which comprise its membership, will meet at the same time and place.

The main purposes of the conference will be the determination of practical methods whereby industry may co-operate still more closely with the government through a more centralized scheme of organization. This probably can be accomplished best by the creation of a federation of all the war service committees. Questions of reconstruction, too, will be taken up.

For nearly a year the Chamber has been engaged in directing the organization of war service committees in all lines of industry to assist the government in mobilizing most effectively the country's industries for prosecution of the war. It is evident that it is necessary to begin to outline a general program of organizing business for the period of reconstruction.

Single industries, acting individually, can scarcely hope to prepare for reconstruction on the scale that will be necessary and a federation of all the war service committees of all the industries will be of inestimable value in co-operating with those agencies of the government to be created to deal with this subject.

The war service committees represent the most important, and best informed body of business men ever associated for a practical and patriotic purpose and the conference therefore will be one of the most important business gatherings ever held in this country. Certain common interests and duties that bind together all the war service committees include:

War Industries: To keep efficiency and production at the highest possible point through stable labor conditions and steady flow of materials through plants, thus assuring the utmost aid in carrying out the program of the government.

Non-War Industries: To keep plant organization and production from falling below the danger line in the face of shortage of materials, labor and transportation.

Jointly: To face squarely and constructively the reconstruction period and to be ready through accurate and exhaustive study to lay before such governmental agencies as may be created to deal with reconstruction the necessary data bearing on the subject.

Questions foremost at this time in the minds of every business man will be discussed at the conference by the best authorities that can be assembled. Speakers who already have accepted invitations to appear include Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield, A. C. Bedford, James A. Farrell and Paul Warburg.

The conferences will include general sessions at which questions common to all industries will be taken up, sessions of committees within particular industries at which specific industrial problems will be discussed, meetings of related war service committee groups, and conferences of individual war service committees. National councillors of the Chamber of Commerce also will hold separate sessions.

In A Siberian 'Death-Train' -- By Olive Gilbreath

Special Correspondence to The China Press Vladivostok, December 7.—Whatever other foe the Allies must fight in Siberia, they are face to face with one enemy more certain of his result than the Bolsheviks and more ruthless than the Germanized Red Guard. An enemy scattered along the entire route of the trans-Siberian, represented by not actually present in every train, but in every town, every town, so mortal a foe that the Allies agree to lie down together like the lion and the lamb or, speaking more truly, to rise up and work like a machine-gun battery under fire.
This enemy is the typhus spread by the "death trains" from European Russia.

The impression of those who saw first these "death trains" is incommunicable. Danks might have incorporated it in his Inferno but no modern can paint it, unless he be a Russian. These trains were first heard of when Nikolai telegraphed Vladivostok that she was passing on a train of eight hundred convicts from Russia. Vladivostok promptly telegraphed Nikolai to hold her correct trains and despatched investigators. What these men found, as has been said, cannot be told but the report summarized is briefly as follows:

The doctors arrived at Nikolai at night, and at the train two miles out of the city, in the due time later, in the darkness. As they approached the tracks where the long cars lay, strands of intestine black in the night, a sound arose from the whole length of the train like muffled drums.

An uncanny, sound-drum-drum-drumming. Cause unassigned but without cessation, soft, padded drum-drumming. It was the coughing of thirteen hundred people inside the closed and sealed train!

With lanterns and torches, the doctors forced open the doors of one car. "Look sharp—he will fall out!" a voice within the car called as the door opened. He was the coughing of a young boy of about nineteen, shoeless and without other clothing than a gunny sack about the loins, so emaciated that the spine was visible through the body and the shape of the pelvic bones. Death from starvation.

From all sides, from every track and crevice, even dropping from the ceiling it seemed, faces pored and hands thrust out, emaciated in the torchlight. The stench was unbearable, overpowering, never to be forgotten, the stench of a space practically sealed for thirty-eight days. The floor was covered with about four inches of rubbish of living human in-line, and an investigation of the bunks yielded four other corpses among the living. This was the state of one car.

The doctors left it, still giving forth a muffled drumming, to enter another.
They worked late. There were forty-eight of these cars, each worse than the other except for one. Here the inmates were comparatively well and sufficiently fed. All the younger women had been collected in their car.
For anybody knowing Russia, it is enough said. The remainder of the train was a veritable "train of death," a hot bed of dread epidemics: tuberculosis in hundreds of cases, epidemic dysentery, typhoid, the worst skin diseases, and typhus. And this train had come through from European Russia, sealed, guarded and forbidden by every station to stop, passed on by each Siberian town to its neighbor like the plague.

The history of this train makes death in the Black Hole of Calcutta appear like the reward of a long and meritorious life. When the Czechs evacuated Samara in October, this train was filled and started to the next station where it was to have obtained food. Reports were that it was filled with convicts but this was found to be not true; it was filled with inmates of the prison but also with arrestees taken from the streets of Samara and packed into the train.
One of the inmates was a woman doctor, formerly head of a hospital, another an apothecary, another a stenographer, a journalist and his wife. Samara in October is warm and they were hastily sent out of the city without heavy clothing and with only enough money, in the hands of the guards, for a few days' provisions.

When the train started, there were twenty-five hundred. There was not room to sit down, the imprisoned must bear their imprisonment standing, watched by guards lest they escape. They moved on to Ufa. Ufa refused to feed them and ordered them to leave. Without provisions, the train pulled out eastward toward the next station, Cheliabinsk. Cheliabinsk refused them permission to stop and also refused them food. At the end of a week, eight hundred were missing. Whither did they vanish?
The guard does not state.

There was now room to sit down, the train pulled eastward into the Siberian steppe and Siberian winter.
It was bitterly cold. But no town would receive them. Many towns refused to permit them to stop or, if stopping to open even the tiny air holes at the top of the cars. Torment Omely, Irkutsk passed them still on to the neighbor to the east. The torture was soon finished for many a night and all was over. This was the train—eight days and thirty-eight nights of homeless, foodless, lightless, hopeless torture. Why did they not escape? Every night the guard built fires and kept watch over the train.

There was room to lie down when the train reached Nikolai although the bunks even then were so tight-packed that the victims, removed to the hospital, had to be dragged out by their feet. Still there was room to lie down. Thirteen hundred had yielded their places to the still living when the train had reached Nikolai and were ordered to proceed farther to Vladivostok. This was the first train of death. Others are on the road—nobody knows how many crossing Siberia.

What the American Red Cross, represented by Dr. Rossett of Baltimore, accomplished for this first train is a matter of pride for Americans and humanity. The first achievement was to hold the train for the Russian authorities with amazing sang froid had announced a shortage of food in east Siberia and had, beyond human credibility, ordered this horrid back-along the 2,000 mile road to its starting point. By straining every point the train was held until authorities in Vladivostok could be properly informed as to its nature. Five hundred patients were removed to the hospital and laid on straw along the hospital corridors. Four hundred of these are expected to die.

The cars were cleaned and fumigat-ed. One other train was turned back at China but orders have now been issued for the handling of the other similar "death-trains" on the road and every effort is being exerted to keep Siberia from reaping the whirlwind of this folly. The Allies have acted swiftly and generously. Each had contributed unstintingly and "to scrub Siberia."

AMERICAN LOAN TO BELGIUM

(American Wireless To Reuter)

Washington, December 12.—(Received at French Wireless Station).
Belgium's loan from the United States have been increased to $213,220,000. The credit of all the Allies from the United States now totals $8,223,540,720.

is now the slogan. Under the direction of the American Red Cross an anti-typhus expedition is to be sent through Siberia to bathe, fumigate and sterilize. The Russian Admiralty itself is now interested and three shifts of workmen work night and day to complete the train. It will consist of fifteen cars with arrangements for sterilizing the clothing of one hundred people at a time—padded garments, boots, sheepskin coats.

Every possible bathing facility for including and devices for exterminating the insect carriers of the scourge, Dr. Rossett will direct the expedition.
No nurse accompany it, only orderlies. An attempt will be made to enlist the help of the town authorities and to establish some standard of hygiene and health for Siberia.

It is not a moment too soon for the train has proved a boomerang for the cities which refused it and has sown seeds of disease that might easily sweep half the population. Already many of the guards who brought it through have answered the last long roll call. The Red Cross itself will complement the significance of this service from the Allies and find in it another reason for sympatichesk friendship is one of the hopes, whether she does or not, scrubbing Siberia is one of the present duties to humanity and one must be a pessimist to believe it will not prove bread cast upon the waters. That the expedition is fraught with danger nobody knows better than the men who go out to fight and it is a phlegmatic pulse that does not beat faster for the eagerness and courage with which these men ask to be flung out against the epidemic which communicates itself with such lightning swiftness and fatal results.

Doubtless, the situation will be alleviated and Siberia kept from the harvest of these death-angels. For matter, however, gives one cause for reflection.

HINGWA CITY CLEARED
OF SOUTHERN FORCESCanton Troops And Their Band Allies Driven Out And Gates Are Reopened

China Press Correspondence

Hingwa, Fukien, December 6.— Yesterday was first day since September 13 that all four of the city gates were opened for traffic.
The greater part of the time only one gate has been opened for a few hours each day. On Monday last the Northern forces having received reinforcements began an attack on the Southern forces and their bandit allies. In a short time the Southern forces were in full retreat. Pailin County is now practically clear of them, all having retreated towards Sienyu. It is announced that the Northern forces will proceed at once against Sienyu.

Previous to the fighting a committee of citizens and missionaries attempted to secure a cessation of hostilities but found no inclination on the part of either side to consider an armistice. For three months business has been suspended in these regions and the merchants and majority of the people were heartily glad to see the country cleared once more of the invaders. While there is sympathy for the principles for which many of the Canton leaders stand yet in the affair here the better class of citizens. The South failed here because they planned to use the local bandits to drive out the North. They only succeeded in bringing a flood of misery upon the people such as this section has not witnessed before for many years.

Messrs. CROSSE & BLACKWELL much regret that for the first time for a hundred years war conditions prevent many of their products being shipped to China. They much appreciate the letters they are receiving, and in reply would state that it is fully recognised here that under the circumstances of life in China the absence of English delicacies and foods is a very real hardship.

Messrs. CROSSE & BLACKWELL will take care that not a day shall be lost in forwarding supplies when a return to more normal conditions permits. In the meantime they trust that those who have been accustomed to rely on their products will be good enough to accept this explanation.

ABOLISH TUCHUN SYSTEM, IS GENERAL AOKI'S ADVICE

Thinks Peace Can Be Restored Nevertheless; Sakatani Appointment Formally Made

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, December 13.—General Aoki, interviewed by Reuter's correspondent, expressed the opinion that the Tuchun system should now be abolished, placing all administration in the hands of civil officials. He advocated dividing China into ten military districts, each having a corps or divisional headquarters centrally situated. General headquarters must be in the capital under the personal command of the President, as Commander-in-Chief of the Military forces. The military authorities should not be allowed to interfere with the administration and should not be possible to move a single soldier without instructions from general headquarters.

General Aoki was confident that peace would be restored. He believed that it had been decided to hold a conference in Nanking. He believed also that Mr. Huang Hai-ling's party had arranged to hold a meeting in Shanghai simultaneously with a conference of representatives of provincial assemblies and educational and commercial bodies throughout China which was being called for the purpose of discussing and ascertaining the views of the whole country. The party, by means of the press at its meeting, would in every way assist the conference, which it was thought would begin about the middle of January. After the conference the non-election of General Tiao K'an but Mr. Liang Shih-yi's followers obviously thought that a Southern Vice-President was necessary.

It would take some time to restore peace and order everywhere but the British and Japanese, who had the interests of China at heart, should do their utmost to help the peace movement, pointing out what was best for the interests of the country and people.

Baron Sakatani's appointment has been concluded as financial adviser. His salary is 14,000 per annum, and his agreement stipulates that his advice must be taken.

Peking Political Notes From Chinese Press

A direct reply from President Hu Shih-chang was demanded in a message sent by the Canton Government, setting forth its views. The communication stated that as the conference is going to be held by the North and South on equal basis it should be called a peace conference. The Canton Government refuses to recognize the Peking Government as the government of China and protest against the message of Mr. Chien Nung-hsun under date of December 4 that the constitutionalists in Fukien and Shensi would be dealt with as bandits.

The message further demanded that the place of the conference be in Shanghai, each side sending ten delegates with a chief delegate and that before the suspension of hostilities in Shensi, no conference should be held. The Canton authorities also protested against the action of the North in allowing the Northern troops to advance on Fukien.

Either Mr. Tang Shao-yi or Dr. Wu Ting-fang will be appointed the Southern chief peace delegate. General Chen Chun-huan has refused to accept the post.

A program of issues to be discussed at the coming conference has been prepared by the Peking Government. It consists of 11 articles, including the questions of civil administration, military administration, the number of defense forces, the military expenses, Parliament, the constitution and the reorganization of Fukien, Szechuen and Shensi.

Both Messrs. Huang Hai-ling and Liang Shih-yi, the moving spirits in the peace negotiations, will go to the South. They will first confer with General Li Shun in Nanking, where they will meet Mr. Chang Chuen, the former Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, and then proceed to Shanghai.

General Hu Shih-chang telegraphed from Japan that he would arrive in Peking tomorrow.

The Ministry of Education has obtained a loan from the International Banking Corporation for $2,000,000 with interest at the rate of 8 percent for a period of three months. The money will be used for the expenses of the Chinese students abroad.

Mr. Chang Yi-pang, the Vice-Minister of Justice, has been delegated by the Government to supervise the burning of the opium stock in Shanghai.

Germans Obsequious To Allies' Troops

But Belief Is It Is Camouflage Put-On To Conciliate Victors

(Reuter's Agency War Service)
Paris, December 13.—A French correspondent with the British armies states that the inhabitants of Rhineland Prussia everywhere are obsequiously welcoming the Allied troops and attempting to conciliate the victory by all kinds of servilities. "Little Hun" shout "hurrah" when the Allied troops pass and little girls make the most elegant curtsies. The shop-windows are decorated with tricolor cockades and orchestras play French airs. The correspondent is sure that all this is pure camouflage ordered by higher quarters.

FOUR FOOTBALL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

S.V.C. Parade Cause Of One Postponement; Rain May Halt Others

But one of the four football games scheduled for this afternoon has been postponed, managers of teams holding off their decisions on playing until this noon. Rain did not stop the single game that has been postponed, the match between the Football Club second team and the Jewish Club. The parade of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps occasioned the cancellation.

Four matches are carded for today, two of them being league fixtures.

Shanghai Harriers' Club

Run In Yangtseepoo Today
The Shanghai Harriers will be out today, engaging in a cross-country chase in the Yangtseepoo district. Fast and slow packs will make the run and there will be a mile run-in for points on the White Shield. There will also be a team race. The start will be from the Chin Woo Athletic School, Baik Road, at 3 p.m. sharp.

Golf Tomorrow

The championship of the Shanghai Golf Club will be decided tomorrow at Kiangwan when Capt. E. J. M. Barrett meets Dr. J. E. Murray.

The Shanghai Golf Club's monthly cup will be played for during the week-end.

Referees' Association

A meeting was held at the Cathedral School last night to form a Referees' Association. Mr. Forshaw took the chair and Mr. Fulton acted as secretary.

After some discussion it was decided that the Association should be formed but it was clearly pointed out that it intended in no way to usurp the powers vested in the Shanghai Football Association, but rather to help supply a serious want.

The various rules governing the body were passed with little comment and the following committee were elected:

General Committee—Mr. Forshaw (chairman), Mr. Fulton (secretary), and Messrs. W. Wilson, Crookdale and Blissett.

Examining Board—Messrs. Forshaw, Blissett and Fulton.
Men willing to act as referees are asked to send in their names to Mr. D. R. Fulton, who will arrange to give any help in the way of lectures and demonstrations to make candidates conversant with the game of soccer.

Soochow Football

Soochow, December 9.—For their annual football game, the Mahan School football team went from Yangchow to play the Soochow Academy team on Friday, December 8. The S.N.R. was kind enough to give special rates and make special reservations for the trip.

The game was played on the Soochow grounds on Saturday morning. Within three minutes of the start, Mahan School, by a pretty bit of team work, scored the first goal. The next was also scored by Mahan and then Soochow shot the ball under the bar. The Mahan goal-keeper, Ma Tao-yuan, saved many a good shot of the Soochow students. One more goal was scored in the first half by Mahan.

The second half proved to be more even. The Soochow team got in more team work and their center forward, Y. S. Liu, made some plucky and brilliant plays, but their team was not able to score. The Mahan captain, I. C. Fang, added one goal during this half making the final score 4-1 in favor of Mahan School.

Thanks are due to Messrs. D. Blaine, of Hangchow College, and H. C. Tung, of Yangchow, for their efficient refereeing.

Two tennis matches were also played, each school winning one and losing one in the singles. There was no time to play off the doubles.

The students of Soochow Academy deserve great praise for the fine spirit of good sportsmanship that they showed, and thanks for their entertainment of the visiting team. After the game they took the Mahan students to see the Soochow University-Hangchow College game, and in the evening were hosts at the cinema, and on Monday morning gave the Mahan students a fine send off at the railroad station.

The standing of the two schools is now: Soochow, two games; Mahan, two games. Both schools are looking forward eagerly to next year's game which will break the tie.

SHANGHAI, DECEMBER 14, 1918

Cross-Currents in Japan

THE most noticeable feature of the current views in the Japanese press is the conflict of thought on matters of high policy that is at present raging in that country.
There are cross-currents of opinion on the weighty problems born of the war, and the Japanese people would appear to be groping in the dark as to what they want. Even at this late hour, with peace dawning on the European horizon, the Japanese people are, to all indications, up in the air as regards their aspirations, and no fixed policy, at least publicly, has been framed for presentation at the Peace Conference.

One fact clearly emerges from the ferment going on in the columns of the Japanese press. That fact is that a large part of the Japanese press appears to be in the grip of the Roninist, which is a Japanese equivalent of the Russian Black Hundred. The case of the Osaka Asahi is worthy of more than passing attention. That paper is charged by the Japanese police authorities with alleged violation of the Press Law by publication of matter calculated to disturb public order and tranquility. Mr. Murayama, the President of the Asahi Company, soon after the case was taken in hand, was assaulted by some soshi in a most cowardly manner and thereafter resigned. The chief offense given the Roninist by the Asahi appears to have been the opposition of the journal to aggressive militarism, its condemnation of the Siberian expedition, and its tendency to a democracy of the Western type.
Yet, another Osaka paper, the Mainichi, of not a little influence and standing, is suffered by the Japanese authorities to put into public print the most mischievous and sensational views, couched in highly infamously language, designed to inflame American-Japanese feeling, even openly advocating the declaration of war by Japan on the United States for the latter's alleged desire to convert Siberia into an American colony. Could anything be more gratuitously mendacious and fraught with greater mischief?

It is gradually being realized, however, in ever-widening circles in Japan, that the downfall of the German Empire means the end of one of Japanese militarism and bureaucracy, although the bureaucrats have not realized it yet. It is a peculiar characteristic of representatives of despotism that they are the last to realize and understand the sealing of their doom. The German autocracy—the world's classic instance of autocracy—only a few months ago would have regarded as a lunatic anyone who would have had the vision to foretell the extinction of Prussian autocracy. The ex-Kaiser and his brood would have laughed at the idea. Yet today, Prussian autocracy has been swept into the dust-bin.

Popular views in Japan on constitutional, social, industrial, judicial and other vital questions of national interest are undergoing vast changes. The Japanese people are beginning to realize, among other things, that the Twenty-One Demands by Japan on China in the memorable month of January, 1915, constituted a colossal blunder. They realize equally well that the loan-mongering rampage in China of the gentleman called Nishihara and the other questionable transactions that have disgraced recent history in this country were capital errors and have been instrumental in doing Japan a much greater measure of mischief and moral harm than any material gain she might have expected.

All this will take time to undo.
The race prejudice and discrimination of which some Japanese publicists so loudly complain do not in reality exist, but even if they did, they would be instantly and automatically removed if Japan should show her readiness and capacity for assimilating the political and moral doctrines laid down by President Wilson, and unconditionally approved by all the Allies. Japan cannot go wrong by adopting democracy. The road is clear and straight.

We heartily endorse the advice given to his countrymen by Mr. Sato, formerly Japanese Ambassador to the United States, on the necessity of dispelling doubts and discussing all questions at the Peace Conference in a spirit of mutual concession.
This can only be done by Japan assuming as upright and equitable an attitude as possible. There is absolutely no occasion for Japanese distrust and suspicion of America, who only started building up a great army and navy AFTER she had been forced by Germany into a war she did not desire and into which she was plunged after the lapse of nearly three years of patience and restraint under the most gravely provocative conditions.

Would a nation of materialists have willingly substituted for love of ease and wealth, and comfort, the austere suffering and sacrifice of war? Most assuredly not. And in this connection, we desire to draw the attention of Japanese firebrands to a useful and instructive publication we have just received from Messrs. Edward Evans and Sons of Shanghai and published by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace on the subject of the Imperial Japanese Mission to the United States last year. The recorded utterances of the head of that Mission, Viscount Ishii, and his opinion about America and the Americans will shame the minority in Japan which seeks to embroil that country in trouble with the United States. If the invitation issued by the Osaka Mainichi to its own government to go to war with America is not the product of a diseased and disordered imagination but is the result of careful deliberation, what gain, might it be asked, does it hope to secure for its country by an event than which nothing can be considered a greater calamity?

Viscount Ishii, in recording his sense of appreciation of the royal welcome accorded to his Mission by the city of San Francisco, said that he knew it meant goodwill. It meant that America wanted kindly relations with Japan just as Japan wanted them with America. It meant that American minds and hearts were open to friendship and all that friendship implied. It meant peace, trade, fellowship and a common interest in a common civilization. In another declaration, Viscount Ishii urged that America and Japan should so live in relation to each other that venomous gossip, slandering, sinister intrigue, an influence of which both countries had been the victims, could in future only serve to bring them closer together for mutual protection and for the common welfare, so that the new world after the war should rise as San Francisco had risen, well ordered, strong and beautiful, from the ashes of the old.

Viscount Ishii acknowledged the good faith of America in the following words: "Your generous attitude makes it possible for every fair-minded man to believe that there are no pending questions between America and Japan which, approached in this spirit, are not susceptible of honorable and fair adjustment."

At all stages of his journey, Viscount Ishii met with unmistakable evidences of American goodwill and friendship for Japan. On that impressive day in the course of the Ishii journey when America and Japan paused at the tomb of Washington, the hope was expressed that there might fall upon them all a double portion of his spirit of faith in the triumph of the right and his readiness to make the supreme sacrifice for the principles for which America, Japan and their Allies were contending in the arena of war.
And it was a solemn moment when Viscount Ishii, bearing a great sheaf of roses and chrysanthemums, bowed reverently to the resting place of the Father of His Country and said in tones deeply thrilled with emotion: "As the representative of my people, I place this wreath upon the tomb of Washington with reverent hands, and in so doing it is my proud privilege again to pledge my country to those principles of right and justice which have saved immortality to the name of Washington."

As the Viscount laid the wreath upon the tomb, the thought that the act was indeed a consecration of national principle and a pledge of the faith of the two peoples found expression among the onlookers. In conclusion, we cannot omit reference to a highly pregnant passage in the address of welcome accorded to Viscount Ishii by President Wilson: "I assure Your Excellency that standing as our countries now do, associated in this great struggle for the vindication of justice, there will be developed those close ties of fellowship which must come from the mutual sacrifice of life and property."

We submit that those close ties will not be assisted in their development if such belittling utterances as those reproduced in Shanghai a few days ago from the Osaka Mainichi are suffered by the Japanese authorities to mar the good relations subsisting between the United States and Japan.

They Never Die Who Fall In A Great Cause

TOMORROW has been appointed by the Prelates of the Church of England as a Day of Commemoration for the fallen. Throughout the British Empire, in all the churches, chapels and other places of worship, the memory of the fallen will be recalled and their heroic sacrifices on behalf of humanity remembered in the most solemn manner.

Men and women, irrespective of creed, will be invited to join in this act of devotion and commemoration and it is not too much to anticipate that in future years the British people will emulate the excellent example of their American cousins on Decoration Day, and each year have special memorial services for all who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War. There is always a danger when the final end is gained of forgetting the price paid. In this war the sacrifice of human life is unprecedented for never before in the world's history have there been such terrible losses.

Every man, you, and woman, too, who died for the cause are heroes and their memory must be revered.
Their supreme sacrifices must never be forgotten and generations still unborn ought to learn to prize and bless the memory of those who were killed while fighting for Righteousness and Freedom.

Naturally, to thousands of believers the day will be a sad one.
Mothers will mourn afresh for their sons and wives for their husbands.

The Empire, its Allies and the United States are justly proud of what their respective sons have accomplished. Alas, too many have paid the great price. But the victory is finally achieved and greater even than this will be the thought in the minds of all who now rejoice that Liberty, Justice and Equality, the great foundation stones of true Democracy, are now unassailable.

"They never die who fall in a great cause." And thus we hope that sorrowing hearts will be touched with joyous pride as the knowledge of the untold and lasting benefits that the triumph of the war brings to mankind comes home afresh to them. Those who fell did not see the fruits of their lives.
They were content to lay them down, satisfied that in so doing they were serving the best interests of their respective countries. Their main consideration was to do their best. They believed firmly in the righteousness and justice of the cause their nation espoused and they had no regard for their own reward.
They marched bravely forward with their comrades in arms and battled manfully against overwhelming odds with the spirit which characterized Brownings' hero:

One who never turned his back but marched breast forward:
Never doubted clouds would break: Never dreamed though right were worsted wrong would triumph: Held we fall to rise and battle to fight better; sleep to wake.

An Unfortunate Start

A commercial traveler on his first trip called upon a chemist. He was nervous as he put his hand into his pocket and drew out a card.

"I represent that concern," said the young man.

"You are fortunate," replied the druggist.

"The traveler was encouraged.
"I think so, sir," he said, "and the druggist who trades with us is even more so. My firm has the finest line of cosmetics in the world."
"I shouldn't have thought it," slowly responded the man of medicines; "her complexion looks natural," and he handed back the photograph which the young man had given him in mistake.

The traveler didn't wait for an order.

Remaking The Map Of Europe--
By Sir John Foster Fraser

(Note: Sir John F. Fraser is Chairman of the British War Leagues Committee)

New York, November 7.—No visitor to the United States during the last six months has failed to mark the determination of the American people that there shall be no peace with Germany without unconditional surrender, that there be no dealings with the unscrupulous Hohenzollerns and that the war be kept going till the Yankee boys march through Berlin and Czar Gkory is hoisted over the palace at Potsdam.

The European Allies are not so precise about the spectacular termination of the fighting. For over four years they have felt the agony. While there is no vindictiveness in their hearts, the establishment of a democratic and constitutional government in Germany, excellent in itself, is not going to be accepted as a substitute for punishment, reparation and indemnity.

Problems To Follow

So there are three great problems following the admitted defeat of Germany: (1) How is Germany to be treated? (2) How is the map of Europe to be remade? (3) What will happen socially and industrially after the war?

I write first of my own land of Great Britain because I best know the temper of the people there. These are not the days to boast, and I say no word about what the United Kingdom and its sons and daughters have accomplished since August, 1914.

But we do remember we have had 2,500,000 casualties, that over 1,000, 000 of our men are dead, that every family in the land has given a life, that we have 270,000 men maimed for life and that 187,000 women have been made widows by the war.

The people of Britain are anxious to provide what the Germans desire,
"a just peace."

Though there is a demand that Germany shall be subjected to a heavy indemnities, there is no desire in England that one penny shall go to her as recompense for the injury done to her, even by the raiding of non-fortified towns, but that all should go to rehabilitate Belgium, to restore devastated France and to assist Serbia.

Unfair To Allies

Britain has strong views that the German high sea fleet, having had the shelter of the Kiel Canal, shall not remain intact and that, while Allied and neutral merchant marine have suffered by the ravages of the U-boats, it would be unfair that the German mercantile marine, which has been immune, should have a free field over the seas.

We have a record of all the tonnage sunk by Germany contrary to the rules of war. The decided opinion is that Germany should make reparation for ton to each Allied or neutral country in proportion to its loss.

Britain has no territorial ambitions in Europe, Asia or Africa.
In Europe we want people to have accepted and stable governments. In Asia we would restore the lands wrested from the Turks to their rightful owners, with no interference on our part except to maintain peace and promote prosperity.

There arises the question of the German colonies. Everybody who has a right to speak on this subject knows how Germany abused her trust in Africa and in the Pacific. But the fate of the German colonies does not lie with Great Britain any more, than with the United States.

The people who have authority in this matter are the self-governing communities of South Africa and Australia, and who in their own region of the earth are adopting the principles of the Monroe Doctrine.
They say quite explicitly they are not going to have German colonies as neighbors.

If the blood of France tingles at the prospect of making bragart Germany cringe and be pale with punishment who shall blame her?

Indemnity To Pay

For nigh half a century she recalls the shame Germany put upon her.
She knows what was to have been her fate if the enemy in 1914 had overrun France. The torn provinces of Alsace-Lorraine must be restored.
Heavy indemnities must be paid.

No money will ever repair the outrages imposed on French and Belgian towns, many nothing more now than tumbled and deserted heaps of stone.
Germany's money must provide restoration.

The German people hurried at the sorrow of France. If it is well the German people should feel some of the pain which France endured. And the same may be written of Austria in her high-handed conduct toward the noble spirited people of Italy.

The Allied nations of Europe know they would have been the victims of Germany if the tide of war had gone against them. They are wounded and bleeding with the long struggle.

If there be any people in America who believe, now the common enemy is thrown, that France, Italy, Belgium or Great Britain are willing to sit down and talk quietly with Germany and bargain and make easy terms they know nothing whatever about the temper of these nations.

But the hour has come when we can look beyond a dictated peace. On that matter there are not likely to be differences between the democracies of Europe and the generous-hearted democracy of the United States, which sent its sons to help in the crucial hour of the world's history.

And the consequence of the war is the split up of Europe—a thing never contemplated by the seers among the diplomats. The present maps of Europe are going out of date. Who expected four years ago that the map of Europe would be redrawn and the colorings of the countries be a greater patch work than before?

German intrigue tumbled Russia and broke it. And when it was broken the outer world began to comprehend all the pieces were not of the same metal. The declaration of a separate republic of the Ukraine was not because the money of the Wilhelmstrasse was more potent in Kiev than on the banks of the Neva but because the Ukrainians caught the opportunity in the revolutionary upheaval to break from the Muscovites with whom they were not in sympathy.

The Ukrainian, partly Bessarabian, a good deal Rumanian and with a Slavic tincture, is a much more practical person than the Russian. And the breaking away of the Ukraine from Russia—though accelerated by the Kaiser—was really the assertion of an individual nationality.

When the Allies insist that the lootered territory acquired by Germany be yielded it must not be accepted that the Ukraine will consent to be remerged in Russia. If self-determination of nationalities is to count for anything—and it is a principle accepted by all the Allies—the independence of the Ukraine will have to be recognized.

But, in the first place, order will have to be restored throughout the distracted region of Russia. The sorry story is familiar to all. I am amongst those who, knowing Russia and therefore loving it, believe that what Russia needs most today is not criticism but sympathy and help.

The Russians are a responsive people. If instead of lecturing them we could get them to believe we were their friends they would soon welcome the establishment of a Commission—especially with the United States largely represented upon it—to set up a firm and representative government.
Indeed if the whole work were undertaken by America it would be advantageous for the Republic of the east would know the Republic of the west had no territorial aims.

As Russia was, and may be again, in the economic pocket of Germany, the aid of America in the development of industry would be invaluable.
Russia cannot be ruined; it has abundant natural resources. In her own interests she must not again be exploited by Germany.

Nothing will be accomplished by harshness; everything can be done by winning the confidence of the people. Here is a work which is peculiarly suitable to the American people for, strange though it may seem, the higher qualities of both people are the same; they are idealistic, truly democratic, and generosity is in the marrow of their bones.

But in the remaking of the map let us accept that in future the Russia of the past will be divided into four sections, possibly five.
There will be Russia proper, Slavic, with a population equal to that of the United States, and the capital on the true site, Moscow. The Ukraine will remain separate. Below the Caucasus, the old kingdom of Armenia will be re-established, and that tear-soaked land will become prosperous.

I anticipate a vigorous sister republic east of the Urals, in Siberia.
Siberia is the land of tomorrow; in all potentialities it is a twin country to Canada. Indeed, I expect Siberia will make greater strides than Russia.
In the old days I always found more freedom in Siberia than in Russia, though that sounds like a paradox.
The best people in Siberia are descended from political exiles, better educated than the mass of Russians and with a more intelligent outlook on life and the world. The population is scant; the laws were severe.

Siberia's Treasure

If Siberia were thrown open to the immigrant, with life and invested capital secure, Siberia would speedily become one of the greatest food-producing countries in the world.

Then there are the Baltic provinces of old Russia—Esthonia, Lithuania, Courland—which, while glad to escape from the grip of Germany, will be in no mood to return to Russia.
The people do not speak Russian; the commercial language, as in Riga, is German. And these sturdy, hard-working races would prefer autonomous rule, a little self-contained republic free from aggression on the part of a future Prussia or future Russia.

Finland, assuredly, will be independent. Love of country is more than a sentiment with the Finns; it is a religion. The Finns have not a gracious exterior, but they have the clearest vision of equality and carry their reforms to a logical conclusion.
The Finnish Parliament was the first to admit women to all the rights of citizenship.

Even now I have not exhausted the inevitable of the former empire of Russia. There is Poland—and the Allies are pledged to bring into being the Polish nation as an independent entity, now partly Russian, partly Austrian and partly German. Friends of Poland will have every cause to be grieved if Germany is not compelled to make easy terms they

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Physicians Prescribe Castoria.

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: 1st, The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; 2nd, That it not only always stomach pains and quiet the nerves, but assimilates the food; 3rd, It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for castor oil. It is absolutely safe.
It does not contain any opium, morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike soothing Syrup, Balsam's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a medical journal to say.
Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces comfort and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The signature of Dr. H. H. H. H. guarantees genuine Castoria.

"Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place." WILLIAM BELMONT, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use." S. A. BOGART, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

"I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it to all my friends."
J. S. ELLIOTT, M. D., New York City.

"I take pleasure in recommending your Castoria, having recommended its use in many instances, and consider it the best laxative and could be used, especially for children." NATHANIEL K. KING, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.
